2012

What is Wood Badge?

Wood Badge is leadership training for volunteer leaders involved in all phases of Scouting - Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting, Varsity Scouting, and Venturing, as well as council and district leaders, and professionals. Wood Badge has evolved over the years. Today's Wood Badge focuses on leadership and "people" skills. Participants learn how to be better leaders, how to work with teams and lead others, and how to develop and achieve objectives. Wood Badge combines the most current leadership skills used by corporate America with the best of successful outdoor leadership programs and more than 100 years of Scouting experience. Leadership skills developed through Wood Badge, while obviously applicable to Scouting, will also help participants be more effective leaders at work, at home, or in other volunteer roles.

Requirements:

You must be a registered adult scouter with basic training for your particular scouting position and any Outdoor Skills training appropriate for your position. There are no special physical or outdoor abilities required. You must be able to have fun!

Course Format:

Wood Badge is a six-day course conducted over two full three-day weekends. The first weekend reflects the unit meeting, while the second weekend uses a camping activity as its delivery model. The focus is on leadership skills, not outdoor skills. And did we mention fun?
